Instant COVID-19 Compliance for Workplaces

As we start to think about how we can return to work safely and maintain social distancing it is clear that floor signage will play a crucial role.

Responsible employers and retailers must make it easy for their staff and customers to stay 2m apart at all times and provide sufficient sanitisation stations where people can clean their hands effectively.

We have created a new range of printed tiles that can be laid over your existing floor to show your employees and customers where the nearest hand wash station or hand sanitiser is and exactly how far a 2m gap is between them and the next person.

BENEFITS

- Protects your existing floor from drips or splashes from water, soap and hand gel
- Can be taken up and moved around if necessary e.g. if your staff return to work in stages
- Tough and durable - will last much longer than if you apply a sticky sign to your existing floor
- Loose laid so your floor underneath will be as good as new
